

Abstract

A substrate treating apparatus comprising a treatment chamber for housing a substrate, a stage on which the 5 substrate is placed within the treatment chamber, a heating member arranged within the stage and used for heating the substrate, a sealing member arranged between the stage and the treatment chamber, and a cooling mechanism having a cooling medium, whose latent heat of vaporization is 10 utilized for cooling the sealing member.